The Situation

Munger Construction Company recently concluded a project aimed at enhancing the public athletic facility of the Town of Madison, situated at 87 Surf Club Road in Madison. The Madison Strong Field complex now boasts a synthetic-surfaced multi-purpose field, state-of-the-art playing field lighting, and a grandstand seating structure with a capacity for 2,000 individuals. Munger's scope of work included the construction of two identical 1,380 square foot wood and steel-framed structures serving as versatile facilities, encompassing field houses, restrooms, storage areas, and a concession stand. The execution of the field house construction was overseen by Michael Cormier, the Project Manager, while Jeff Landon and Alan Kostek collaborated as Project Supervisors. Munger partnered with local Madison Architect, Duo Dickinson, for the architectural design of these structures.

Build The Best - Be The Best

Success Story: Town of Madison

The Implementation

Initiating the project, the team began by pouring the slab onto the existing foundation for the field houses. Subsequently, wood and steel framing were erected, and cupolas were installed on the roofing for ventilation purposes. The team then proceeded with interior tasks, including wall framing, siding, door/window installation, trimming, and painting. Plumbing work for the restrooms, along with fixture and bathroom partition installation, was outsourced to Munger's subcontractors. The electrical components of the two buildings were also completed by subcontractors under Munger's supervision. As a final touch, epoxy coating was applied to all interior flooring.

Munger Construction expresses sincere gratitude to the Town of Madison for the opportunity to contribute to the development of such an impressive public sporting campus.
